

Unit 2. Session 2.- Commercial letter.

Situation

Eva is improving her English because she has already been in London for a few months but the coronavirus pandemic has spoiled her experience of being in contact with her colleague every day in the office. On the other hand, it has also given them the opportunity of improving in the use of new technologies because she is using computer applications like Zoom to communicate with her superiors and colleagues through daily telematic tools.

At the beginning she just carried out simple tasks so that she could get used to the RR company procedures but after a while, Mr. Johnson has assigned her more and more tasks as other intern students do. Eva is hard-working and she's striving to help the company in these hard times due to Coronavirus. It has taken her a lot of effort to be there and she wants to make the most of it.

Eva loves London and she wants to stay there for a long season and she deserves to have a chance to work in RR company as an accountant. There, she could earn more money than an intern student. Living in London is more expensive than she thought. Every day Eva arrives at the office early and works long hours. On the days when she doesn't have to go to the office she goes online and finishes her tasks on time. She doesn't like wasting time. Mónica helps Eva in any way she can but her English level is worse than Eva's and she wants to return to Spain as soon as possible.

Mr. Johnson acknowledges Eva's effort and he decides to take her to his own department so that they can work side by side and he can personally supervise her progress.

Mr. Johnson: "All right, Eva could I talk to you for a second?"

Eva: "Yes, of course!"

Mr. Johnson: "Ok, Eva. I've been watching you since you came and I must admit you have made a great effort. Since the beginning you have taken it seriously and today you're completely integrated into RR company and you are doing a great job!"

Eva: "Thank you, Mr. Johnson! I'm very pleased to hear that!"

Mr. Johnson: "For this reason, I have set up everything for you to move on the accounting department so that you take on increased responsibilities and more complex tasks. You will work every day from the office except one from your home until the situation returns to normal. What do you think?"

Eva: "Oh. That would be great Mr. Johnson! Thank you very much."

Mr. Johnson: "I hope you keep on working hard and you don't let me down, O.K?"

Eva: "Thank you!, I won't, sir!"

Think about it

Write in the forum.

Imagine you are Eva and you have just talked to Mr. Johnson. Write down an email to your parents telling them about the good news. Remember to put into practice all you learned about sending an email in the previous session 1. Let's go!

1.- Types of letters.

A Step Ahead

In the following link there are more formal letters examples to improve this item.

Examples. Formal letters.

1.1.- Formal Letter of request or enquiry.

Content of a formal letter:

- ✓ First paragraph: It should be short and state the purpose of the letter to make an enquiry, complain, request something, etc.
- ✓ Middle paragraphs: These should contain the relevant information behind the writing of the letter. Most letters in English are not very long, so keep the information to the essentials and concentrate on organising it in a clear and logical manner rather than expanding too much.
- ✓ Last paragraph: It should state what action you expect the recipient to take: to refund, send you information, etc.

Contenido de una Carta Formal:

- ✓ Primer párrafo: El primer párrafo debería ser corto y explicar el propósito de la carta: pedir información, quejarse, pedir algo etc.
- ✓ El párrafo o párrafos centrales de la carta deberían tratar el motivo principal por el que escribimos la carta. La mayoría de las cartas en inglés no son muy largas, por tanto intenta ser breve y organizarla de manera clara y lógica.
- ✓ Último párrafo: En el último párrafo debería tratarse que se espera del destinatario. Por ejemplo que te reembolse tu dinero, te envíe información, etc.

A letter of request or enquiry is written when you are approaching a company speculatively, that is, you are making an approach without their having advertised or announced a vacancy. These types of letters have the following contents:

<https://view.genial.ly/5f04cf14ed1b130d94ff9802>

1.3.- Rules for writing a business letter in English.

In addition to the previously mentioned paragraphs, we must take into account other rules in formal letters that you must take into consideration.

Furthermore, you should try to write as simply and as clearly as possible, and not to make the letter longer than necessary. Remember not to use informal language like contractions in formal letters or emails.

Rules of a business letter:

1. Address Heading: This is the writer's full address. Business letters usually have preprinted, letterhead stationery which contains this information. An address heading is optional for informal letters.
 - ✓ Your address (Addressee's data or Sender's data): The return address should be written in the top right-hand corner of the letter.
 - ✓ The address of the person you are writing to (Addresser's data): The inside address should be written on the left, starting below your address.
 2. Date: this is the month, day and year that the letter is written on. e.g.: 4th August 2021 or 4th August, 2021.
 - ✓ Different people put the date on different sides of the page. You can write this on the right or the left on the line after the address you are writing to. Write the month as a word.
 3. Inside Address: The recipient's full name and address. Generally, informal letters do not include an inside address.

*Note: Refer to Addressing Persons of Title when writing letters to these people.
 4. Attention line (optional): With formal letters, the "Attention or For the attention of: [full name of recipient]" is placed two vertical spaces below the inside address. E.g.: For the attention of Ms. Potter.
 5. Greeting: Also known as the "salutation," this is the introductory phrase, "Dear [name of recipient]." Either a comma or a colon can be used at the end of this phrase. Today, a comma is more extensively used, with the exception of the use of a title (i.e. "Dear Member:") and not a proper name. In this case, the use of a colon would be more appropriate.
 - ✓ Dear Sir or Madam, If you do not know the name of the person you are writing to, use this. It is always advisable to try to find out a name.
 - ✓ Dear Mr. Jenkins, If you know the name, use the title (Mr, Mrs, or Ms, Dr, etc.) and the surname only. If you are writing to a woman and do not know if she uses Mrs or Miss, you can use Ms, which is for married and single women.
 6. Subject line (optional): A word or phrase to indicate the main subject of the letter, which is preceded by the word "Subject:" or "Re:" (Latin for "matter"). Subject lines may be emphasized by underlining, using bold font or all capital letters. They can be alternatively located directly below the "inside address," before the "greeting." Informal or social letters rarely include a subject line.
 7. Body of the Letter: The complete text of the letter; the subject matter content.
 8. Closing or ending a letter or complimentary close: This is the farewell phrase or word that precedes the signature and is followed by a comma. Closing should reflect a type of farewell or goodbye as the writer signs off. Examples: "Yours truly," "Sincerely," "Respectfully yours," "Regards," etc.
 - ✓ FORMAL: Yours sincerely (UK) / Yours truly (USA): If you know the name of the person, end the letter this way.
 - ↳ Yours faithfully: If you do not know the name of the person, end the letter this way.
 - ✓ INFORMAL: Sincerely, Yours, With best wishes.
 - ✓ Your signature: Sign your name, then print it underneath the signature. If you think the person you are writing to might not know whether you are male or female, put your title in brackets after your name.
 - ↳ *Note: "Thank you," is not considered an appropriate closing for a formal or business letter.
 9. Signature:
The signed name of the writer.
 10. Identification Line:
Formal or business letters include the full name of the writer printed below the signed name (two vertical spaces below the Closing). It includes the writer's professional designations and title with the organization. Directly below that, the name of the organization which the writer represents.
 11. Postscript:
Is a brief sentence or paragraph introduced by the initials, "P.S." (post scriptus) - Latin for "after having been written." It implies that the writer, having completed and signed the letter, had an after-thought. Although this is still commonly used in informal letters, it is not widely accepted for use in formal or business letters.
 12. Notation:
Part of a formal or business letter consisting of brief words or abbreviations as notations.
- Examples:*
- ✓ "R.S.V.P." (Répondez s'il vous plaît) - French for "Please reply."

The use of this notation indicates that the writer expects the recipient to contact the writer with a "yes" or "no" response to the invitation extended in the body of the letter. Often a corresponding address and/or phone number is printed directly below this notation.

- ✓ "CC:" (carbon copy) - These initials are followed by a name or column of names, indicating those people to whom a copy of the letter is being sent to. (One-sided inked carbon paper slipped between two pieces of paper was once the method used for duplicating copies of correspondence, hence use of the word "carbon" in this notation).
- ✓ "encl." (enclosure) - Indicates that something else accompanying the letter is enclosed.
- ✓ "PL/rm" (initials of persons) - Indicates that a person typed or even composed a letter on behalf of someone else. The capitalized initials are those of the sender of the letter (Paul Lazarman). The lower-case initials are those of the person who typed or composed the letter (Rachel McDonald) on behalf of the sender. The most common use for this notation is for situations where an administrative assistant composed and/or typed the final version of a letter that was dictated by his/her boss.

Reglas para escribir una carta formal.

En inglés hay una serie de convencionalismos a la hora de escribir una carta formal o de negocios.

Además, debes intentar escribir tan simple y claro como te sea posible para no alargar la carta más de lo necesario. Recuerda no utilizar lenguaje informal como contracciones.

Partes principales de una carta formal:

- ✓ Direcciones: esta es la dirección completa del escritor. Las cartas comerciales generalmente tienen papel con membrete preimpreso que contiene esta información. Un encabezado de dirección es opcional para letras informales. Su dirección: la dirección del remitente debe escribirse en la esquina superior derecha de la carta.
 - ◆ Tu dirección: La dirección del remitente debería escribirse en la esquina superior derecha de la carta.
 - ◆ Dirección del destinatario: debería colocarse en la esquina superior izquierda, comenzando siempre por debajo de la dirección del remitente.
- ✓ Fecha: este es el mes, día y año en que se escribe la carta.
 - ◆ La fecha puede variar de posición. La puedes poner tanto a la derecha como a la izquierda, pero justo debajo de la dirección del destinatario. Escribe el mes con letras.
- ✓ Dirección interna: el nombre completo y la dirección del destinatario. En general, las cartas informales no incluyen una dirección interna. * Nota: Consulte Dirigirse a las personas de título cuando escriba cartas a estas personas. Atención: con letras formales, la "Atención: [nombre completo del destinatario]" se coloca dos espacios verticales debajo de la dirección interna.
- ✓ Saludo:
 - ◆ "Dear Sir or Madam," (estimado Señor o Señora) Se utiliza cuando no sabes el nombre de la persona a la que escribes. Se aconseja averiguar el nombre.
 - ◆ "Dear Mr. Jenkins," (estimado Señor Jenkins). Si sabes el nombre utiliza (Mr., Ms. Miss, etc.) y el apellido solamente. Si escribes a una mujer y no sabes si utiliza Ms. (señora) o Miss (señorita) puedes utilizar "Ms." ya que vale tanto para soltera como casada.
- ✓ Despedida:
 - ◆ "Yours faithfully" se utiliza cuando no sabemos el nombre de la persona a la que va dirigida la carta.
 - ◆ Yours sincerely: Se usa cuando conocemos el nombre del destinatario.
 - ◆ Tu firma. Pon tu nombre justo debajo de tu firma. Si crees que la persona a la que va dirigida la carta no sabrá distinguir si eres hombre o mujer, pon la abreviatura correspondiente después de tu nombre.
- ✓ Línea de identificación: Las cartas formales o comerciales incluyen el nombre completo del escritor impreso debajo del nombre firmado (dos espacios verticales debajo del Cierre). Incluye las designaciones profesionales del escritor y el título de la organización. Directamente debajo de eso, el nombre de la organización que representa el escritor.
- ✓ Posdata: Es una breve oración o párrafo introducido por las iniciales, "P.S." (post scriptus) - Latín para "después de haber sido escrito". Implica que el escritor, después de haber completado y firmado la carta, tuvo una reflexión posterior. Aunque esto todavía se usa comúnmente en cartas informales, no se acepta ampliamente para su uso en cartas formales o comerciales.

- ✓ Anotación: Parte de una carta formal o comercial que consiste en palabras breves o abreviaturas como anotaciones.

¿Te has fijado en el artículo THE y la preposición OF? No los ponemos cuando escribimos la fecha, pero Sí los pronunciamos. Decimos THE seventh OF July y no seven July.

Siempre que escribimos o decimos una fecha, a diferencia de lo que hacéis en español, usamos el número ordinal y no el cardinal. Para nosotros: Primero de enero, segundo de febrero, tercero de marzo, cuarto de abril...

5.- Grammar: Frequency adverbs.

An adverb of frequency goes before a main verb (except with To Be). Subject + adverb + main verb. An adverb of frequency goes after the verb To Be. With the compound tenses (like the present continuous), the frequency adverb goes between the two verbs.

Read the following examples:

- ✓ Our father is usually at the office at 9.30 every day. (To Be: after)
- ✓ She always checks her emails first hour in the afternoon. (To Be: before)

Frequency	Adverb of Frequency	Example Sentences (To Be)	Example Sentences (To Be)
100%	always	I always go to bed before 9 p.m.	I am always happy.
90%	usually	I usually have cereal for breakfast.	She is usually studying.
80%	normally / generally	I normally go to the gym.	I am normally tired.
70%	often* / frequently	I often surf the internet.	He is often ready to play.
50%	sometimes	I sometimes forget my wife's birthday.	We are sometimes crazy.
30%	occasionally	I occasionally eat junk food.	They are occasionally glad to go there.
10%	seldom	I seldom read the newspaper.	It is seldom clean.
5%	hardly ever / rarely	I hardly ever drink wine.	The Kitty is hardly ever quiet.
0%	never	I never swim in the river.	My computer is never free to use.

Think About It

Attention! Frequency adverbs are not always placed in the same position. Can you guess why? Take a closer look at the sentences above and fill in the following table.

5.1.- Imperative. Make suggestions.

The imperative is used to give commands and orders. The form of the verb used for the imperative is the base form of the main verb, which is used without a subject.

The word order of a sentence in the imperative is: verb + object (if needed). The negative imperative is made with do + not or don't.

- ✓ Don't lose that key.
- ✓ Do not come back without it!
- ✓ Do stop talking! I'm trying to work.
- ✓ I'm certainly not going to get it – you get it.
- ✓ Would you get it, then? I'm busy.

- ✓ Walk to the corner, turn right, and cross the road.
- ✓ Don't forget to take your passport with you.
- ✓ Be careful!

Making suggestions

Let's (let + us) + main verb is used in the 1st person plural only, especially when you are trying to encourage someone to do something with you. It includes both the speaker and the hearer, so the subject that is understood is represented by the plural we.

- ✓ Let's visit Malcolm this weekend.
- ✓ Please let's go to the cinema tonight.
- ✓ Do let's have a look at your new computer, Chris.
- ✓ Let's pool our resources.

Suggestions which start with let's often end with the sentence tag shall we?

- ✓ Let's phone her now, shall we?
- ✓ Let's go for a walk after supper, shall we?

In ordinary English the negative is let's not + main verb or sometimes don't let's + main verb.

- ✓ Let's not worry about that now.
- ✓ Don't let's worry about that now.

In formal English, the negative is let us not + main verb.

- ✓ Let us not lose sight of our aims.

Do let's is the emphatic form.

- ✓ It's a very good bargain; do let's buy it!

The non-contracted or long form let us + main verb is occasionally used in formal and written English.

- ✓ Let us be clear about this.
- ✓ Let us hope that this will never happen again.

The answer to a suggestion with let's is normally either, yes, let's or no, let's not or sometimes, no, don't let's (...).

- ✓ Let's phone her now, shall we? – Yes, let's.
- ✓ Let's phone her now, shall we? – No, let's not.
- ✓ Let's invite Malcolm over this weekend. – No, don't let's do that.
